In addition, the competent Danish authorities will apply the following national legislation in implementing the restrictive measures against the Democratic People's Republic of Korea concerning arms and related material:

- In accordance with section 7 a (1) and (4) of the Danish Weapons Act No. 1005 of 2012, with subsequent amendments, the government order on transportation of weapons, etc., between countries other than Denmark has been issued, establishing a prohibition on the transport of weapons etc., to and from specific countries. According to section 1 of the order, it is prohibited to transport weapons of any kind and defence-related material etc., between countries other than Denmark when the recipient country is listed in the order. The list includes all countries that are under a United Nations, European Union or Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe arms embargo. According to section 2 of the order, it is prohibited to transport weapons of any kind and defence-related material, etc., between countries other than Denmark when the exporting country is listed in the order. The list includes all countries that are under a United Nations, European Union or Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe arms embargo specifically prohibiting, e.g., transport of weapons from that country, etc.;
- According to section 7 b (1) of the Danish Weapons Act, it is likewise prohibited, without a specific licence from the Minister of Justice, for a broker to negotiate or arrange transactions that involve the transfer of weapons, etc., as defined in section 6, between countries outside the European Union. Furthermore, it is prohibited to buy or sell weapons, etc., as defined in section 6, as part of a transfer between countries outside the European Union, or for the owner of the weapons, etc., to arrange such transfer. According to section 7 b (2), the prohibition does not apply to acts performed in another State member of the European Union or to acts performed outside the European Union by persons with permanent residence outside Denmark.

- According to section 6 of the Danish Weapons Act, it is prohibited to export weapons of any kind and defence-related material, etc., without a specific licence. Section 6 applies to any situation in which items are transferred from Denmark to a third country, no matter whether the transfer takes place in relation to export, transit, trans-shipment or re-export. Export licences will not be issued to countries in violation of Security Council resolutions 1718 \(2006\), 1874 \(2009\) and 2270 \(2016\).
- Violations of the above-mentioned rules are criminal offences punishable by fine or imprisonment; see Danish Weapons Act, section 10, and, under aggravating circumstances, section 192 (a) of the Danish Criminal Code.

Furthermore, the competent Danish authorities are currently revising the Danish Merchant Shipping Act No. 75 of 2014, with subsequent amendments, in order to fully implement the restrictive measures against the Democratic People's Republic of Korea imposed by the Security Council in its resolutions concerning registration and deregistration of vessels.

The above-mentioned Council Regulations are binding in their entirety and directly applicable in all States members of the European Union. Council Regulation (EU) 2017/1509 requires member States to determine the penalties applicable to infringements of their provisions. The penalties determined by Denmark are set out in the following legislation:

- The Danish Criminal Code No. 977 of 2017, with subsequent amendments. According to section 110 c (2) of the Criminal Code, a fine or imprisonment for a term not exceeding four months, or in particularly aggravating circumstances imprisonment for a term not exceeding four years, is imposed on any person who fails to comply with provisions or prohibitions stipulated by law to perform the obligations incumbent on the State as a Member of the United Nations. An equivalent provision exists concerning the contravention of European Union sanctions (sect. 110 c (3)). Where the contravention is committed through negligence, the penalty is a fine or imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years (sect. 110 c (4)).
- The Danish Anti-Money Laundering Act No. 651 of 2017, with subsequent amendments, under which the Danish Financial Supervisory Authority may order undertakings or persons to take the necessary compliance measures, within the time limit specified by the Authority, in the event of violations of European Union regulations regarding financial sanctions against countries, persons, groups, legal entities or bodies. A person or undertaking failing to comply with such an order, is punishable with a fine.

As regards restrictions on admission (visa ban), Denmark has the following national legislation, which, together with Council Decision (CFSP) 2016/849 and Regulation (EC) No. 539/2001, provides the basis for refusal of admission and denial of requests for a visa:

- The Danish Aliens Act No. 1117 of 2017, with subsequent amendments, under which the competent Danish authorities have the power to impose entry and transit restrictions on persons designated by the Security Council Committee established pursuant to Security Council resolution 1718 \(2006\). The necessary instructions will be issued immediately after the designation of such persons.
