The Government is aware of the threats to international peace and security caused by terrorism, and has adopted the necessary measures to comply with the Security Council resolutions. In this regard, the Government of Armenia actively collaborates with the Counter-Terrorism Committee, with a view to providing information regarding domestic measures to implement the Security Council resolutions on terrorism in an effective manner.

- any impediments under your domestic law in this context and steps taken to address them.

Law on the Central Bank, Law on Banks and Banking and Law on Credit Institutions grant the Central Bank of Armenia an authority to freeze the accounts of the persons suspected in flow of illegal assets or financing of terrorism. According to the Regulation No.5 “Safeguarding Banks and Credit Organisations from Circulation of Criminally Obtained Funds and Prevention of Financing of Terrorism”, the banks or credit organisations should report to the Central Bank within one working day if the account owners or a party involved in banking operations are suspected in flow of illegal assets or financing of terrorism.

Please describe any structures or mechanisms in place within your Government to identify and investigate Usama bin Laden, Al-Qaida or Taliban-related financial networks, or those who provide support to them or individuals, groups, undertakings and entities associated with them within your jurisdiction.

Please indicate, as appropriate, how your efforts are coordinated nationally, regionally and/or internationally.

The fight against international terrorism is carried out by a specialised operational unit within the National Security Service. Please indicate how these requirements are enforced, including the names and activities of agencies responsible for oversight.

According to the Regulation No.5 "Safeguarding Banks and Credit Organisations from Circulation of Criminally Obtained Funds and Prevention of Financing of Terrorism" adopted by the Central Bank, the circulation of criminally obtained funds and sources for funding terrorism in banks or credit organizations is prohibited. Banks and credit organization must have internal regulations (rules, procedures, orders, regulations) in place for preventing circulation of criminally obtained funds and sources for funding terrorism as well as for due diligence to record and keep information on customers, and to collect, record and maintain information on suspicious transactions.

Such internal regulations shall define:

- b) the information the bank or credit organization would require from customer, creditor or partner in carrying out financial and other operations;

- d) the scope of responsibility of bank management, staff and authorized unit or employee, for non-adherence to procedures and requirements set forth in internal regulations, under Armenian Law and bank's internal regulations.

Banks and credit organizations must have assigned a unit (e.g. legal or security department) or an employee, to deal with prevention of circulation of criminally obtained funds and sources for financing of terrorism.

Information collected by bank or credit organization on customer, creditors or partners, and other such data relating to suspicious transactions carried out by such customers shall be held by bank or credit organization in paper-based and/or electronic means at least for a five year period.

If a customer, creditor or partner acts as an agent, representative or an authorized party for another person, bank or credit organization must identify the true beneficiary of that banking account and verify the information relating to such agent, representative or authorized party, as required by its internal procedures. Such an account may be established once required information is obtained and appropriate records are made. If a customer, creditor or partners is a legal entity registered and/or operating in an offshore country or area, or a party with a non-legal entity status, or a sole entrepreneur, the bank or credit organization must identify sources of income of such parties, as required by its internal procedures.

Banks and credit organization must, in internally defined frequency and manner, verify information that has been required from customers, creditors or partners in concluding financial or other operations.

The Consolidated List has been incorporated into the border checkpoints list and other databases of the relevant state agencies including the one maintained by the National Security Service. In this regard no problems have been encountered.

No specific assistance is required for the implementation of the above-mentioned sanctions regime except the general assistance for the capacity building for effective counter-terrorist campaign.
